MEMORANDUM FOR: Deputy Director (Support)

SUBJECT : CIA Training of U. S. Armed Forces

REFERENCE : 20 January 1960 Memorandum from
 DTR, Subject as Above

1. This memorandum is for information only; particular reference is made to paragraphs 1 and 3. The prompt response to reference memorandum requesting statistics on the compartmented briefings, lectures, and training being given to the U. S. Armed Forces by various Agency components was gratifying. The results will be of interest to all who contributed to this survey. Collectively in 1959 CIA, including the DCI, DDCI, and DD/I, presented more than fourteen and one-half months of CIA man-hours of actual presentations to the U. S. Armed Forces. These varied from intelligence briefings to specific clandestine operations training. This instruction was received by well over 1,000 personnel of the Army, Navy, Air Force, and Marine Corps. CIA components making the major contribution to this instruction were: OTR, over 700 hours; Office of Communications, over 518 hours; TSS, over 500 hours; DD/I components, over 284 hours; employees working full time preparing correspondence training materials sent to the Armed Forces in 1959; and the CI Staff, over 140 hours.

2. Two charts presenting detailed breakdowns of this instruction have been prepared by OTR from reports submitted by the Agency components who conducted the instruction. For reasons of security compartmentation, these charts have been given limited distribution on a need-to-know basis. These charts are entitled:

- a. CIA Training Presented at Service Schools
- b. Substantive Training Programs for the Armed Forces

3. It is noted there seems to be a general policy within CIA of accepting all training requests from the Armed Forces which are in any way reasonable and pertain to the area of primary responsibility of the office providing the instruction or speakers. In view of the not inconsiderable contribution CIA is making to the Armed Forces through training, it is apparent there is a need for the DCI and others to have current statistics continually available summarizing this activity in order to answer questions put by the Bureau of the Budget, Congressional Committees, and other inquiries. To meet this need, DTR recommends that as soon as any training of the Armed Forces is accomplished by any Agency component, Registrar, OTR, be notified of that training and be made responsible for maintaining a permanent record of all CIA training and/or speakers provided to the Armed Forces. OTR suggests that it be instructed to draft a CIA Notice to this effect.

4. Pursuant to oral instructions from DD/S, OTR is also drafting a CIA Notice fixing responsibility on OTR for coordinating all Department of Defense requests for speakers at the various DOD schools and colleges.
